Last Week - Guest Speaker Bob Brind-Surch 'Smart Shooting - From the Ordinary to the Extraordinary...'

Just when you think you have a fair grasp of camera theory and how it all works, along comes Bob Brind-Surch Many times I've read in magazines 'expose to the right' without really understanding what it meant. I thought I knew, but after listening to Bob I didn't know, but I do now.... I think.... This was quite a difficult subject for us to understand, but Bob in his usual manner got it over very well. Certainly quite a few of us members will try to put it into practice.

Just a few comments:

I would like to congratulate the booking of last night's speaker. Someone I would see again.

It was good to not only to see some fantastic images but what goes on to create them; rather than, here is a picture and here it is again in black and white.

I for one found the information useful but can understand some comments about it going over some people's heads.

It was fantastic that Bob made all the information available to us on his website and I am sure the more experienced members will take time to help where they can.

Bob had a difficult job trying to match one presentation to fit all the member's needs but did it admirably.

I thought last night's speaker Bob Brind-Surch was excellent. He made the internal workings of camera exposure both interesting and understandable.

He answered a lot of the 'why does this happen' questions which can only help my photography.

On a personal level, at the end of the evening when I'm sure he wanted to get home, he took the trouble to get his laptop back out of his bag to explain something clearly to me. Please can we have him again?

This Week - 'Practical Evening with Lee Chapman'

There has been a change to this weeks Practical Evening. Rather than our experienced members doing the teaching, we thought we'd give their brains a rest and get someone in to do it for them. Local photographer Lee Chapman will be coming along to do the business. Lee is a very accomplished Aviation photographer and this will be the subject of his first half presentation. After the break Lee will be delving into photo processing and editing. Lee has kindly agreed to step in at quite short notice so let's give him a good welcome.
